Attacks, Spells, & Abilities

Name	Attack/DC	Damage	Notes
The Pesce Kit	+5	1d8+3	Signature weapon / tool
I Know Where You Are	At Will	-	Signature move, roleplay / utility
Full Spectrum Dominance	DC 13	Varies	Once per session, ultimate ability

Class Features

Signal Lock - Once per short rest, tune into the local spectrum to sense any active transmission within 60 feet and pinpoint its source outright
I Know Where You Are - No GPS, no map, no scrying, just forty seconds of listening to what the dungeon is accidentally leaking, then walking straight to whatever was hiding
Ultimate Ability - Full Spectrum Dominance: for sixty seconds, everything transmitting belongs to him, doors unlock, traps confess. Drains his gear to zero after, so the next fight he's just a guy holding an antenna
The Pesce Kit - A directional Yagi antenna carried as a quarterstaff, a hot-air rework station he insists is a healing implement, a Pringles can that has never contained Pringles, and a mug labeled CRM-114 that does not empty

Personality

Trait	In a crisis: Calmly solving the puzzle, out loud. Known around the office as Mischievous.
Ideal	Most wizards memorize. He captures what the dungeon is already broadcasting, replays it, and then teaches a seminar about it.
Bond	Twenty-five years of making a room laugh while the payload lands, so the teaching curse and the showmanship are the same muscle at this point.
Flaw	The System's own audit log lists him as "chaotic-meticulous."

Backstory & Equipment

Backstory

Larry's dad built a TV from a kit that caught fire twice; young Larry helped fix it both times. Decades of wireless and IoT penetration testing later, co-authoring SANS's flagship courses on both, he still can't leave a signal alone. He doesn't cast spells so much as find the ones the dungeon left broadcasting in the clear.

Equipment

The Pesce Kit
Light Armor
An adventurer's pack
